Cheryl Thomas is Partner in the Tax team at Bright Grahame Murray.

Cheryl provides business tax advice to clients in a variety of sectors and is experienced in dealing with owner-managed businesses. In addition to providing tax compliance services to both SMEs and larger groups, she regularly advises on the tax implications of various corporate matters, such as acquisitions and disposals, financing and restructuring. Cheryl's experiences have led to a particular specialism in the property sector.

After training as a Chartered Accountant, Cheryl joined a top ten accountancy firm where she qualified as a Chartered Tax Adviser. She spent ten years there specialising in corporate tax, before joining Bright Grahame Murray.

Away from work, Cheryl enjoys running, long walks and spending time with her family.
